The Jamali Method

A step-by-step system to help you achieve clarity, purpose, courage, confidence, connection, dignity, self-love, justice, abundance, leadership, freedom and faith [congruent with Islam]

Five Jamali Principles I'm Going to Teach You Today

This is for you if...

- You are an intelligent, educated woman.
- You desire to learn more about self development and inner strength.
- You realize you are your biggest asset, and need to invest in yourself.
- You want to learn more about connection to Allah or the divine.
- You desire to be a strong and independent person with balance.
- You value freedom and dignity.
- You like helping people.
- You don't want to live a life without having realized your true purpose.
- You want purpose and passion.
- You feel you can have an impact in the world.

This is not for

- People who blame others for their problems
- Fundamentalists or extremely conservative Muslims
- People who have a poverty mindset
- “Uncoachable magic-pill seekers” who don’t take action
- Information hoarders who never apply what they learn
- Know-it-alls who aren't open to personal growth or new perspectives
- Cultural ostriches who refuse to adapt to a multicultural world
- Dogmatic thinkers who can't imagine blending Islamic values with personal development
- Broke, no job, no personal source of income or resources

Eram Saeed

natasha_saeed Today is my amazing mother's 50th birthday. Over the past decade she has truly been the person I aspire to be. She went through hell and back to give us the best life and shown me what it truly means to be strong woman. It takes an enormous amount of courage to be as bold and kind hearted as she is on a daily basis. It takes even more courage to overcome the adversities she faced and to sacrifice everything she had to for her daughters. I hope in the next decade and the years to come her guidance reaches the masses more than she could dream of, and trust me she dreams big and does everything in her power to make those dreams come true. Thanks for being "pretty cool" Mommy. ❤️
